It was believed the thieves had a truck or automobile to carry away the loot. The rear door had not been locked as the garments apparently had been handed to the outside through the hole in the door. The door opens on an alleyway about 40 feet from the alley in the rear of the store.

One of the dress racks had been pulled from the center of the store over to one side to shield the burglary activities.

The cash register was not molested, Miss Kreis said.

Garments stolen, as listed by Miss Kreis, consisted of 22 women's suits, 20 women's fur trimmed winter coats, 16 misses' dresses and seven spring coats.

The burglars apparently inspected the stock, Miss Kreis said, since the seven garments ranked among the highest-priced in the store.

Another break-in last night, police were told, occurred at the Park street market at 428 Park street, where a quantity of groceries were stolen. Entrance was gained by breaking the glass in the front door.

Value of the stolen articles had not been determined at noon today.

Foes Assail 10-Mill Tax Limitation

"Governmental Catastrophe" Forecast if Voters Enact Proposal.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7—In an official argument lodged with the secretary of state, opponents of the 10 mill levy limitation proposal predict "governmental catastrophe" if Ohio voters approve a November referendum on the constitutional amendment.

They coupled their attack with an assertion that "real estate taxes in Ohio have been reduced 42 per cent on the average in the last four years."

Citing that the proposed amendment would wipe out $49,000,000 of existing tax revenues by authorizing a drop from 15 mills to 10, the argument continued "schools, cities, counties and townships in Ohio will lose from 36 per cent to 100 per cent of their operating revenues within limitations" if the amendment is approved.

The arguments will be circulated by the secretary of state along with arguments of proponents, a mandatory action.

Other evidences of the catastrophe they pictured included:

"The amendment would ruin the credit of local government; would impair the security of insurance companies and banks which hold very considerable amounts of local

FOUR GET LIFE FOR KIDNAPING

Quartet in Urschel Case First To Be Sentenced Under New Law.

TWO OTHERS GET TERMS

"Machine Gun" Kelly and Wife Enter Pleas of Not Guilty.

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7.—Life sentences—the first under the new "Lindbergh" kidnaping law—were imposed today upon Harvey Bailey, notorious outlaw, Albert Bates and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon for the $200,000 ransom abduction of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire.

The sentences were pronounced by Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Edward Berman and Clifford Skelly, both of Minneapolis, were sentenced to five years each. They were accused of being "money changers" in the disposition of $5,000 of the ransom money.

Armon Shannon, 22, son of R. G. Shannon, on whose Texas farm Urschel was held prisoner, was given a 10-year suspended sentence and paroled to M. W. Burch, Decatur, Tex., attorney.

Meanwhile, George (Machine Gun) Kelly, who with Bates was named as being the actual kidnaper and his wife, Kathryn Kelly, pleaded not guilty to kidnaping charges. This reversed previous plans which District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde had announced for the couple to plead guilty.

Bailey, notorious outlaw, who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary last Memorial day, and broke out of the county jail at Dallas Labor day only to be recaptured at Ardmore, Okla., a few hours later, was captured on the Shannon farm with $700 of the ransom money in his possession.

Bates was pointed out by Urschel as one of the two men who forced him to leave a bridge game at his mansion at the point of a machine gun and took him to the Shannon farm.

Urschel has identified Kelly also as one of the kidnapers, and E. E. Kirkpatrick, intermediary for the oil man, said it was Kelly who collected the ransom money in Kansas City.

After passing the sentences Judge Vaught recessed court until 12:30 a. m. (Marion time) and attorneys and court officials suggested a development in the status of the Kellys' case might come at that time.

Kathryn Kelly's not guilty plea came after she had talked to Judge Vaught in his office before the opening of court.

Her plea was not so much a surprise as that of her husband, from whom a guilty plea had been expected by authorities.

Ordered To Testify

The court ordered Burch to report to it every six months on the conduct of Armon Shannon, who is married and has a child. Another child is expected within the next few weeks.

Armon was directed to hold himself in readiness to appear as a witness in the Kellys' trial.

Attorneys for Berman and Skelly gave notice of appeal. The CANTON, O., Oct. 7—Clarence A. Fisher, 51, prominent Canton lawyer, died this morning following two weeks' illness from heart dilation.

URGES UNITED CAPITAL AND LABOR FRONT

Roosevelt Calls for "Unselfish Patriotism" of Economic Recovery Efforts.

SPEAKING AT DEDICATION

President Voices Appeal as A. F. of L. Unveils Memorial to Compers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—President Roosevelt today called for a united "unselfish patriotism" on the part of capital and labor in support of his recovery efforts.

Dedicating the American Federation of Labor memorial monument to its late president, Samuel Gompers, Mr. Roosevelt said the "overwhelming majority" of workers and employers understand "that this is no time to seek special privileges, undue advantages or personal gain."

But he said some employers "prefer government by a privileged class" and some workers were "hot-heads who think that results can be obtained by noise or violence."

Urges Quick Settlement

The President likened the latter, as Woodrow Wilson did in the war days, to horses seeking to "kick over the traces" and said these would have to be "lassoed" and "put in a corral."

He urged a quick settlement of labor's jurisdictional problems to prevent a slowing up of the general program and then added:

"There are the perfectly natural problems of selfish individuals who seek personal gain by running counter to the calm judgment of sound leadership.

"There are hot-heads who think that results can be obtained by noise or violence; there are insidious voices seeking to instill methods or principles which are wholly foreign to the American form of Democratic government.

"On the part of employers there are some who shudder at anything new. There are some who think in terms of dollars and cents instead of in terms of human lives; there are some who themselves would prefer government by a privileged class instead of by majority rule.

Praises Leader

"But it is clear that the sum of the recalcitrants on both sides cuts a very small figure in the total of employers and employes alike, who are going along whole-heartedly in the war against depression."

Mr. Roosevelt praised the life work of Gompers as a labor leader and said the present federation and its affiliations "are in a broad sense giving the same kind of fine cooperation to your government which Samuel Gompers and his associates gave to that same government in the old days." He concluded:

"Like the duly constituted officials of your government, we must and we are putting unselfish patriotism first. That would have been the order of Samuel Gompers if he were with us today."

NRA Officials Confronted By Three Major Problems

Difficult Questions in Drive for Recovery Must Be Settled Within Short Time.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Three big riddles, freighted with controversy and involving vital points in the program of national recovery, are demanding solution in the immediate future by NRA officials.

Retail trade's proposal for minimum price control is to get Administrator Hugh S. Johnson's verdict and possibly that of President Roosevelt by Monday or Tuesday.

Immediately behind is necessity for the labor board to decide whether, in arbitrating disputes, it shall require minorities of workers to abide by the will of the majority, or make it necessary in some cases for employers to arbitrate with more than one group. This involves fundamentally the question of "closed shop" unionization, hitherto regarded as banned by the industrial law.

Third, and possibly most controversial, is a proposal rapidly coming to a head, by which some officials hope to tempt capital to invest in construction and new equipment by keeping down wages for a period of one year, with a mandatory increase at that time, and further increases at stated periods later if the volume of business rises.

The idea, worked out by a group of deputies and economists, is to use the code structure to flatten out the building curve from its present series of booms and depressions every 10 years, to a 20-year, more moderate fluctuation. Its backers assert they are not proposing to reduce wages below the levels proposed by industries in codes, but rather not to raise them for the present to a compromise between industrial offers and labor demands.

Labor men already are promising fight, however, and an idea to require longer working hours than normally provided by codes is said to have been dropped. The whole project has not yet been passed upon by Johnson, but will be before him soon in the construction industry codes.

School Problems Aired as Teachers Meet Here

150 City and County Instructors Gather at Central Junior for Educational Discussion.

About 150 Marion county and city school teachers attending a meeting in Central Junior High school today heard A. W. Elliott, superintendent of the Mt. Vernon public schools, issue a plea for the schools to undertake their responsibility in leading the country out of present conditions.

Mr. Elliott said that one of the greatest missions of education in the future will be to prevent such economic and social crises from occurring again.

He also attacked the present system of slighting funds for education while expenditures for road building go on undiminished. If it is possible to find ways to finance roads, he said, it should be possible to keep schools operating. Mr. Elliott declared that school finances should be given a larger share in the state budget.

Other Speakers

Other speakers at the meeting were Dr. Clyde E. Cooper, head of the department of geography and geology at Ohio university; Prof. P. B. Diederich of Ohio State university; H. G. Kenestrick of the state department of vocational agriculture and Dr. H. Litherland, head of the extension department of Ohio Northern university.

In an election this morning, A. B. Augenstein, superintendent at Claridon, was named president of the Marion County Teachers' association for the next year. He succeeds C. A. Sindlinger, superintendent at Morral.

Other officers elected are R. E. Copeland, superintendent at Waldo, vice president, and Miss Eloise Dixon, teacher in the Martel schools, secretary.

Music for the morning program was supplied by students from the

ROOSEVELT CONFERS WITH STEEL CHIEFS

Conference Held at White House To Seek Pennsylvania Mine Peace.

With coal and steel strike areas in a state of comparative calm, the eyes of industry today turn to Washington where new moves are under way to bring peace between workers and employers.

Hope for solution of difficulties through application of the coal code was expressed by Donald Richberg, NRA counsel, as he conferred with miners and owners after an outburst of inter-union warfare in southern Illinois.

At Harrisburg, Ill., national guardsmen patrolled the scene of rioting and shooting, with one mine closed by order of Governor Horner.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt, steel manufacturers operating coal mines — and NRA executives went into a conference at the White House today to seek a settlement of the western Pennsylvania coal strike.

The issue, which has suspended operations in the steel companies' "captive" mines for several weeks and caused the President some concern, was complete recognition of the union by the operators. Besides Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, and Donald Richberg, general counsel of NRA, five steel manufacturers participated in the conference.

They were Eugene G. Grace,

OTT'S HOME RUN ENDS SERIES PLAY IN 10TH; SCORE 4-3

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7—The New York Giants, representatives of the National league, won the world's baseball championship here today by beating the Washington Senators for the fourth time. The score was 4 to 3. Today's victory gave the Giants a four to one margin in games won. Mel Ott broke a three-all tie with a home run in the tenth inning.

The game in detail:

First Inning

Giants—Moore cracked the first ball pitched past Bluege for a single. Critz flied to Goslin. Terry singled to center on the first ball pitched and Moore raced to third. Ott fanned. Davis grounded to Cronin and Terry was forced at second, Cronin to Myer. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Senators—Myer hoisted a high fly to Moore who backed up for the catch. Goslin hit the first pitch past Ryan for a hot single. Manush lined out to Jackson and Goslin was doubled, Jackson to Terry, as the Senators failed to execute the hit and run play. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Second Inning

Giants—Jackson cracked the first ball to left for a single. Mancuso walked, the fourth pitch being low and outside. Ryan bounded to Myer for the putout at first base. Jackson went to third and Mancuso to second on the sacrifice. Jackson and Mancuso scored on Schumacher's short single over second base. Schulte did not have a chance to cut off anybody at the plate. Moore lined out to Goslin. Critz filed out to Goslin. Two runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Senators—Cronin filed out to Ott, who made a nice running catch behind second base. Schulte grounded out, Critz to Terry. Kuhel lofted to Moore who ran toward the foul line for the catch. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning

Giants—Terry drove a single to right. Ott struck out for the second straight time. Davis lifted a short fly to Cronin who backed up into short left field for the catch. Jackson fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Senators — Bluege bounced out, Ryan to Terry. Sewell also sent a hopper to Ryan and was thrown out at first. Crowder likewise grounded out by the Ryan to Terry route. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Fourth Inning

Giants—Mancuso fouled out to Kuhel who took the ball near the first base coaching box. Ryan walked. Schumacher fanned swinging hard at a fast ball. Moore grounded out, Crowder to Kuhel. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Senators—Myer dropped a short hit in front of the plate and was thrown out, Mancuso to Terry. Goslin walked. Manush grounded to Jackson and Goslin was forced at second, Jackson to Critz, but Manush beat the relay to first. Cronin fouled out to Mancuso. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Fifth Inning

Giants—Critz filed to Goslin who made a running catch in right center. Terry lined out to Bluege. Ott filed to Manush. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Senators — Schulte dribbled to Jackson and beat it out for a scratch hit on a close play. Jackson had to come in fast and make the throw from an awkward position. Kuhel cracked a single to left, Schulte stopping at second. The Giants went into a huddle with Schumacher in the center of the diamond. Bluege bunted foul and was automatically out, the ball rolling off the first base line. The play was scored as a strikeout, with Mancuso getting the putout. Sewell lined out to Moore who jumped for the catch. Mancuso failed to hold the ball and Schulte ran to third. It was a wild pitch for Schumacher. Crowder grounded to Ryan and was thrown out at first. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Sixth Inning

Giants—Davis lashed a hit down the third base foul line for a double. Jackson bunted and was thrown out, Bluege to Kuhel, sending Davis to third on the sacrifice. Mancuso drove a long hit to left center for a double, scoring Davis. Schulte got his gloved hand on the ball but could not hold it. Crowder was taken out at the box. Jack Russell, the right handed relief man, was summoned to the rescue. Ryan fanned on the third straight strike. Schumacher fanned. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Senators— Myer raised a high fly to Jackson. Goslin grounded out, Critz to Terry. Manush drove a line single to right for his first hit of the game. Cronin dropped a single over Ryan's head and Manush beat the throw in a fast dash to third base. Cronin halted at first. It was the hit and run play. Schulte drove a home run into the left field pavilion, scoring Manush and Cronin ahead of him and tying the score. Moore backed up against the short fence but the ball sailed several feet over his head into the crowd. Kuhel shot a single through Critz' legs. It was a terrific smash and much too hot for Hughie to hold. Bluege grounded to Jackson, who made a sensational stop as he fell to the ground, but made a poor throw to Terry. Bluege was safe at first and Kuhel reached third. It was a hit for Bluege and an error for Jackson, due to the extra base gained by Kuhel. Schumacher was taken out of the box and Adolfo Luque, the Cuban vet right hander was called to pitch for the Giants. Sewell reached and poked a grounder to Critz who threw him out at first. Three runs, five hits, one error, two left.

Seventh Inning

Giants—Moore grounded out on a hopper to the box, Russell to Kuhel. Critz bounced out Cronin to Kuhel. Terry drove a long fly to Schulte in left center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Senators—The crowd stood up and roared for another rally in the lucky inning. Russell fanned. Myer fanned. Goslin struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Eighth Inning

Giants—Ott lifted a high fly to Manush. Davis lined a single to left center for the first hit off Russell. Jackson hopped a grounder to Cronin who stepped on second base as he grabbed the ball, and then threw to first to complete a double play. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Senators—Manush grounded out, Jackson to Terry. Cronin lashed a single over Ryan's head for his second straight hit. Schulte raised a fly to Davis who made the catch near the bleacher fence. Kuhel grounded out, Jackson to Terry. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Ninth Inning

Giants—Mancuso popped out to Myer. Ryan lifted a short fly that got away from Goslin but he was thrown out trying to make second base, Goslin to Cronin. It was a single for Ryan. Luque drove a single over second base. Moore fanned swinging at a low curve. No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Senators—Bluege fanned. Sewell rolled to Ryan and was thrown out at first. Russell walked. Myer grounded out, Critz to Terry and the game went into extra innings for the second straight day. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Tenth Inning

Giants — Critz lifted the first pitch to Manush in short left center. Terry bounced to Myer and was thrown out at first. Ott lashed a long drive to the pavilion in deep center. Schulte dove into the stands in an attempt to spear the ball and the umpire ruled it was a two bagger, then reversed their decision and gave Ott a home run. Apparently the first verdict was that Schulte got his hands on the ball before it left the field, but this was not obvious from the stands. Manager Cronin and the Senators gathered around Umpire Pfirman back of second base and argued long gun aloud. Schulte limped back on the field after being shaken up by his tumble over the short fence. The Senators the hit should have been held to two bases under ground rules on the theory that Schulte touched the ball. They finally gave up the argument and went back to their positions. Davis lined out to Russell. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Senators—Goslin grounded sharply to Terry and was out on a neat play, Terry to Luque. Manush doubled out to Critz. Cronin lashed a single to left for his third straight hit. Schulte walked. The Giants huddled around Luque. Time was taken out while Cronin spoke both and ordered a pinch [illegible] for Schulte who appeared to have a sore leg from his tumble into the stands. Kerr ran for Schulte. Kuhel fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Surprise Rolls

Six slices of bread and 6 cooked sausages; peanut butter.

Trim crusts from slices of bread. Roll sausage in each slice on which has been spread peanut butter. Roll and fasten with toothpick. Bake for 10 minutes in over at 375 degrees. Serve with hot left over gravy or any sauce desired.

Carrot and Pineapple Salad

One-fourth cup gelatine, 2 carrots grated fine, two tablespoons water, one-half can of grated pineapple.

Mix carrots and drained pineapple. Add juice of pineapple to 2 tablespoons of hot water and gelatine. Pour in circular mold and chill two hours in refrigerator. Serve with mayonnaise.

Codfish Balls

One cup finely picked codfish, 2 well beaten eggs, 2 cups cold mashed potatoes, one tablespoon chopped parsley.

Mix potatoes and codfish which has been slightly parboiled. Add eggs and parsley and shape into balls. If desired roll in fine cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat at 375 degrees until brown.

Nut Cookies

One-half cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, two eggs, one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup nuts, milk if needed, to soften, one teaspoon lemon extract.

Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add nuts, milk and flavorin (a very little at a time) if necessary to soften. Drop with spoon on greased tin. Set one-half nut meat in each center and bake 15 minutes at 400 degrees F.

Richer Suds—Easier Dishwashing

Pour the fine granules of soap into the dishpan. Add hot water. The lasting suds insure perfect cleaning of the dishes and with a wash or two of the dish mop the glasses, silver and china are made sparkling bright and clean. Rinse in hot water and allow to drain dry.

Scrape waste from kettles used in preparing food and soak them in the hot fine granulated soap suds while the dishes are being washed. This loosens the grease and stuck-on food so that just a moment or so washing leaves them clean and bright. Then rinse kettles in clear hot water, wipe dry and stand upside down.

World Still Combatting Smallpox.

For many centuries smallpox served as a stumbling block to human progress. It caused more deaths than any other disease of mankind.

In 1796 Edward Jenner, a young English physician, discovered that vaccination against smallpox would prevent the disease. Jenner became interested in this work by the remark of a milkmaid who said: "I cannot take smallpox because I have had cowpox."

By a series of carefully studied and supervised experiments, Jenner convinced the unbelieving world that a person who had the mild disease called cowpox would be protected against smallpox. This was indeed a great gift to humanity and a contribution that cannot be overestimated in value.

Before vaccination was discovered, only about five persons out of every hundred escaped smallpox. About 25 per cent of those who contracted the disease died and the remainder were mutilated or maimed for life. It was an affliction feared all over the globe.

In this age of scientific understanding, it is almost unbelievable that anyone would deny himself the benefit of vaccination. Yet many persons are deprived of this protective measure because they follow mistaken and unscientific advice.

Though the disease is no longer a common one, it is still prevalent throughout the world. In the United States during a period of ten years, more than half a million cases of smallpox have been reported. This record is made possible by reason of inadequate vaccination.

The disease can be prevented by vaccination and only in that manner. This is confirmed by the fact that in countries where vaccination is compulsory, the disease does not exist.

It is the advice of all authorities that before reaching its first birthday, a baby should be vaccinated against smallpox. An infant may be vaccinated as early as the sixth month. It is a safe procedure and need cause no alarm.

Bear in mind that without warning and at any time, smallpox may break out in your community. If you and your children are vaccinated against smallpox, there is no need for worry.

I am often asked how long vaccination will protect against smallpox. Vaccination is believed to give protection for a period of seven years. I would advise that all children be vaccinated before entering school, after graduation and every seven years thereafter.

THE SWEET AND LOWDOWN.

There are still some girls who adhere to the theory that to give a man all the kisses he wants, will make him want more. But no man ever wanted more of anything, once he was fed up with it—particularly a woman's affection.

• • •

A woman may not think that she needs any man's shoulder to weep on, these days; but a man simply must have somebody to whom he can go home and say "Cock-a-doodle-do." Other men may listen to his troubles but only a woman who loves him will actually enjoy listening when he talks about his triumphs.

• • •

Somehow, the more money a young married couple start out with, the more things they seem to find to quarrel about. After the butcher, the grocer and the landlord have been paid, there isn't much left of a $30 salary to wrangle over.

• • •

Love, like a common cold, simply can't be diagnosed or accounted for, because no two people, who mention "love," are speaking of the same emotion.

• • •

Women are going feminine—but they have a long way to go. Clothes may make the woman—but they don't make her feminine. If she has a hard-shell manner, a husky stride and a cold-boiled laugh.

• • •

The only women who seem to remember what romantic love was like are those who remember what buttonhooks, rolling pins and hatpins were for.

• • •

If an actress can have an understudy and a writer can use a "ghost," why can't a married woman occasionally have somebody to "stand in" for her on the 24 hour job of being a good, devoted wife?

• • •

A woman wants her wedding and her funeral to be beautiful and impressive, but a man never bothers about his, probably because he knows that he'll be totally unconscious at both of them.

SCORE ARRESTED IN U. S. MAIL ROBBERIES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. A relentless search from New York to Texas by federal operatives today brought under arrest a score of alleged members of an interstate mail robbery gang in six cities and provided solution to a daring quarter-million dollar Chicago robbery.

Brought to light by the bizarre death of Edgar Lebensberger, Chicago night club operator, the solution of the robbery revealed amazing ramifications of underworld operations. In their untiring 10-months' search, the federal agents recovered about $150,000 of the loot.

The Chicago robbery took place last Dec. 6. Five robbers snatched bundles of bonds from two carriers of registered mail shortly after they left the central postoffice enroute to a bank in a fog.

Several defendants were implicated in disposal of the bonds. About $2,500 of the stolen securities were recovered from a closed bank in southern Illinois. Others were found somewhere in Texas.

Four men have been arrested in Chicago, and four other persons are held in Denver. Walter Johnson, in charge of postal inspectors, said five had been arrested in Kansas City, three in New York and others in Minneapolis and Boston.

Level-Headed

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 7.—Just been reading over the resolutions that were passed in Chicago by the American Legion this week. They were as level-headed and broad-minded as ever passed by any organization.

And here was an astonishing thing, they come out unanimous for a sound dollar. Now that showed they wasn't taking the easy way out. And there was a body of men representing the cross-section of our country if ever one did.

You would be surprised at the amount of people that don't care how much anything else jumps up and down every day, but they want to know what that old dollar is worth, asleep or awake.

But enough of this. For the by way to detect a feeble-minded man is to get one arguing on economics.

Yours,

Will Rogers

Ohio Wets File Petitions with 100,000 Signers

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Boasting more than 100,000 signatures on petitions for their slate of 52 delegates, revelators in Ohio today contemplated the completion of their first step in attempting to swing Ohio to the repeal column Nov. 7.

The petitions were informally submitted to Secretary of State George Myers last night, shortly before the deadline expired. Today, declaring their certainty that the petitions were valid, representatives of the Ohio repeal council awaited only the formal approval of the secretary to launch their campaign for the election.

Ohio will ballot in November upon "wet" and "dry" tickets of delegates to a convention upon the ratification of the 21st amendment, which would repeal the 18th amendment.

The death of C. L. Knight at Akron last week threatened the acceptance of the slate. Philip Weiss of Cincinnati, was chosen to fill the vacancy, a hurried campaign gained nearly 12,000 names to support the addition of his candidacy, and the petitions were rushed to the capitol.

500 EXPECTED AT REFORMED SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

LOCAL CHURCH TO BE SCENE

North Central Ohio Classes To Send Delegates for Conference.

PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

Columbus Minister and Seminary President Principal Speakers.

Two thousand, seven hundred members of the Sunday schools of the North Central Ohio classis of the Reformed church will be represented by approximately 500 persons who will attend a convention Sunday at the First Reformed church.

Sessions will be conducted in the afternoon and at night, with Dr. Donald H. Tippett of Bexley M. E. church Columbus, as the afternoon speaker and Dr. H. J. Christman, president of Central Theological seminary, will be the principal speaker at night.

The convention will open at 2:30 p. m. with a concert by the First Reformed orchestra under the direction of Miss Clover Mae Klingel. Asa Queen, chorister, will lead a song service with Miss Marion K. Libene of Crestline at the piano.

Roll Call of Schools

Dr. Tippett will give an address on "Building an Integrated Life," and at the close, a roll call of schools will be taken. The afternoon session will close with two conferences, one for adults, led by Rev. Bruce Jacobs of Columbus, and one for young people, in charge of Rev. E. A. Gradwohl of Prospect.

The Marion Canto club, under the direction of Hamer D. Mitchell, and with Miss Dorothy Briggs at the piano, will give a concert at the opening of the night session at 7. Dr. Christman will speak on "Some Trends in Christian Education."

The awarding of banners for attendance will bring the convention to a close.

E. L. Cleveland of Marion, president of the group, will preside for all sessions. Supper will be served at 5:30 p. m. at the church, with a consolidated orchestra of musicians from the 22 schools in the district furnishing music during the hour.

Those in charge of arrangements have suggested topics for the afternoon conference period. It has been suggested that the adults discuss these questions: What can our Sunday schools do to help people spend their greater leisure time under the new schedule of shorter working hours; Can our present Sunday school lessons be made to help people solve their current life problems? How shall we build up attendance in our adult classes? Should the church interest itself in current problems? What attitude should we show toward other religions—Hebrew, Mohammadism, Confusicanism, etc.?

Young People's Topics

The following topics have been suggested for the young people: What influences our life most—radio, movies, newspapers, people—conversation, church, Bible, etc.? Should the church interest itself in current problems—race relation, peace, prohibition, economics? How shall we get others interested in the church? What does youth expect from the church? What has the church the right to expect from youth? "Why do the youth of Europe take such vital interest in the country? Why do we take so little?" What attitudes should we take of other religions?

Heads of Salvation Army Here Given Promotions

ADJUTANT AND MRS. JOHN HUNTER

Announcement of the promotion of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter to the rank of adjutant in the work of the Salvation Army was made today in a letter from John McMillan, territorial commander of the eastern territory. They formerly held the rank of captain in the service.

The promotion was made in recognition of the 10 years service of Adjutant and Mrs. Hunter who came to Marion two years ago from Newark. Both received their training in the Salvation Army Training college in New York City, graduating in 1923.

Commander McMillan commended the officers for their years of devotion and loyalty to the principles of the Salvation Army and expressed his personal pleasure in conveying the information of the promotion.

"I am sure you will view this promotion as an evidence that your consecration to God and loyalty to the flag have been recognized and fully appreciated and that you will let this additional mark of your leader's appreciation and confidence be fully justified by increased zeal on your part in the service to which God has called you for humanity," the commander wrote.

Seeking Things Above

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. HARRY G. DEEDS
Pastor, Greenwood Evangelical Church.

Text—"If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above." Col. 3:1.

THE nearer one comes to completing a task the more anxious they are to complete it. The nearer one comes to being like Christ in every respect known, the more earnestly they seek to be fully like Him.

We seek these things above.

1. By faith.

"Faith is the evidence of things not seen." Heb. 11:1. Has your faith become evidence? Evidence is knowledge, not supposition, not opinion, but certainty. This kind of evidence is the only kind which amounts to anything in court or in Christian religion. Before I venture all for Christ my faith must become evidence.

2. By shunning whatever we know would prevent our obtaining the object of our pursuit.

3. By putting away our own personal sins.

4. By using all the means possible to assist us on our way.

5. By setting our affections upon the things above.

If Christians we are the Bride of Christ. The Bride of the flesh is a good type. She has none other than her intended. He is her all and all. She regards, she esteems, she covets and she delights in the things of her lover. We are the Bride of Christ. Can a bit less be expected of us? Can our marriage to Christ be successful if it is founded on a lower bases than a physical marriage is supposed to be founded?

"If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above."

The Disciples Taught How To Pray

Luke 11:1-13.

1. And it came to pass, that, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, one of His disciples said unto Him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.
2. And He said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father Which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.
3. Give us day by day our daily bread.
4. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil.
5. And He said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves;
6. For a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him?
7. And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee.
8. I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.
9. And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.
10. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
11. If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?
12. Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?
13. If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?

THE story of Jesus teaching His disciples to pray is found only in the gospel of Luke.

This discourse falls into two divisions, the Lord's prayer and arguments about the answer to prayer taken from the example of Jesus and John, the Baptist, who was the first teacher of some of the disciples.

Jesus wants them to pray for the things from which they will receive the most spiritual blessing. Jesus did not expect them to always use the same words, but to analyze the prayer, using it as a foundation, they would find the way. The first part of the prayer, the recognition of God's presence and character; second, to establish brotherly love through better relations with their fellowman; third, satisfaction of legitimate physical needs; fourth, fellowship with God through the forgiveness of their sins and fifth, protection from temptation; these petitions, covering all interests in one's life, are morally right.

A father cannot do evil against his son, neither can God do evil against us when we ask in the right spirit. Jesus suggests how we can come to appreciate the moral nature of God in the study of the best impulses of men.

Subject next week: Christ the Good Shepherd.

Preventable Loss.

Fire prevention week, which has become pretty well established in the list of commercial "weeks" calling attention to various products and movements, lasts from Oct. 8 to 14 this year.

This week is representative of national economic sagacity. Sponsored by interests which sell protection against loss by fire, its purpose is to hole that loss to as low a figure as possible.

If vigilance in this respect were to be relaxed, it is feared that fire losses would increase to a point where the cost of protection might become prohibitively high. Fire prevention week is, of course, merely one of many efforts to prevent such a condition.

By calling to the attention of the public the heavy annual loss from fire and suggesting means of curtailing that loss it performs a real benefit to a country which has learned to think of its national wealth as a manageable asset.

A Curious Structure.

Organization of a joint taxation committee of the state legislature to straighten out Ohio's tax muddle is a move whose origin is a national condition. A few days before the committee was organized, Representative Doughton, chairman of the ways and means committee of the national house of representatives, said that a complete rearrangement of the federal government's revenue structure would be among the first tasks assigned to congress when it convenes.

There is little in the tax structure which can be described as rational. State Senator Yoder, chairman of the joint committee, comments on it in this way: "The very apparent facts are that there has been built up by log-rolling methods a hodgepodge system which is grossly unfair and unequal, besides being subject to change at every session of the legislature." Virtually the same comment can be applied to federal taxes.

"What we are after now," says Representative Doughton," is a permanent tax structure. Many of the levies now in the law were enacted in frantic haste while the house was on fire. We have time now to see where we are going and what is required." It is his opinion that most of the two-year taxes—the nuisance levies—will be dropped. He hopes to have a comprehensive plan of reform worked out before congress convenes, so that a program can be enacted without delay.

Events of the last few years, which have given taxes more prominence than ever as a pressing problem of government, illustrate the desirability of achieving soonor or later a tax structure flexible enough to expand and contract with the expansion and contraction of the times. Into the picture of public revenue has been injected the conception of public responsibility for relief—a conception which is going to mean the expenditure of billions of dollars of public money during the current depression. It is inevitable that if such a plan of relief works, taxes will continue to be heavy.

They Printed Lots of Money.

There are yet living old-timers who, hearing talk about printing more greenbacks, must think they have been whisked backward to dwell once more in the troubled 60's. The story of the Confederacy's experience with worthless paper money is one many of them could tell.

At the beginning of secession the Confederate states had little fear of a currency problem. They had cotton to sell and a market in which to sell it. What they couldn't foresee was the damage that could be done by Union warships blocking their ports and preventing exports from going to Europe.

For a time the supplies which were obtained from outside were paid for by specie from the southern branch of the United States mint, which the Confederacy had commandeered. Gold and silver in southern banks were used, also. But by the end of the Civil war's first year, most of the specie from these two sources had been spent.

It was at that point that the ease of printing money gained an ascendancy and the printing presses were started. It was necessity, of course, with the Confederate states. It would not be necessity with the United States today. Inflation is being advocated as a desperate and uncertain artificial remedy—not as the only way out of a situation by no means so threatening as to warrant such drastic treatment.

By 1863, the depreciated Confederate dollar had boosted prices [illegible] the government entered a law making it a crime for private property which owned [illegible] at what was ruled to be a fair [illegible] price. By 1864, paper [illegible] valued at 5 cents in gold. By [illegible] depreciated even further [illegible] farmers they were not accepting [illegible] Farmers who had welcomed [illegible] themselves ruined because [illegible] for high prices paid in a [illegible] became worthless.

It is the old story of inflation [illegible] every nation at some time [illegible] Americans tell it again?

County Home Rule Amendment.

The state supreme court's decision [illegible] ling the county home rule amendment [illegible] post on the ballot in November [illegible] the last obstacle to a decision [illegible] state as a whole should be eager to [illegible]

Only one thing can defeat the amendment at the polls. That is lack of information. Advocates who have been feeling out public opinion report active support from citizens who understand the amendment. They report, also, that among those who hear it explained for the first time there is no opposition. Victory is within reach, unless the lethargy of voters is great enough to balk what seems to be an inevitable step in the evolution of government.

It is important to understand that the home rule amendment does not make it obligatory for voters to change the form of county government. If they are satisfied with its present form, they may retain that form indefinitely. Many counties, however, have been facing problems for years which called for alterations in the present form. Approval of the amendment would give those counties the right to bring their government up to date.

A wide latitude of choice would be offered counties desiring to make a change. Advocates of the amendment place special stress on this point. The people would work out whatever kind of government they need and want; they would not replace one uniform type with another one. They might desire only a minor change, such as elimination of certain overlapping offices. This could be accomplished without altering materially the structure of their present government. Other counties, notably the heavily populated urban ones, probably would effect a complete reorganization.

The amendment does not affect townships or courts, except to permit the clerk of courts to be appointed. It does not affect schools nor the control of taxation. It was written with the single purpose of enabling the state to bring up to date a governmental structure which was designed for conditions in another day and which experience has proved to be poorly adapted to the modern needs of counties that have changed greatly in the last century.

A Dark Red.

Tom Mann's arrival in this country, delayed considerably while the state department recovered from an acute attack of jitters, is a pointed reminder that the moving spirit of communism in the United States has yet to put in an appearance. There is no simple name recognized by all Americans as the human symbol of Communist principles.

Tom Mann is a literal leader in Great Britain. He has won his spurs by spending approximately three-fourths of his well rounded span of years in toil and jail for his radical beliefs. There must have been many times that he despaired of living until a day when he would be given a passport by bureaucrats of this red-baiting country, but here he is.

He is willing to speak anywhere at any time. To interviewers recording his arrival he made it plain that he stands in the left wing of a left wing party. "I am an out-and-out Communist and a dark red." From the reception given him by New York City brethren it may be gathered that the hue of his political philosophy is pleasing to them. It will be interesting to see what they can make of his presence in their midst.

Effective undermining of the capitalistic system, Mann believes, must wait another World war. When that comes to pass, he predicts, workers will refuse to fall into their traditional role as cannon fodder and capitalists will be forced out of control. Regarding this country's current efforts to gain recovery, he believes the recovery program is a diluted socialistic attempt to improve a condition for which there is no cure without first destroying capitalism.

Although there are less than 100,000 Communists in the United States, there are more than 28,000,000 in the world, he reports. They are gaining strength steadily in Europe and soon will seize control in Great Britain. He admits that the success of the national recovery act would slow up communism's spread here, but one gathers that Tom Mann is not one to demand quick results.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

WHEN TIFFIN AND WORTHINGTON CAME TO OHIO.

It is interesting to note how great things result from small matters. In the last decade of the 18th century a religious revival swept over Virginia. Among those converted were Edward Tiffin and Thomas Worthington. It was the deciding factor in determining them to leave Virginia and come on into Ohio—still the northwest territory and governed by General Arthur St. Clair as an appointed territorial governor. Bearing a letter of introduction to St. Clair, given them by Washington, they came to Chillicothe in 1797. Later each of these two men served two terms as governor of Ohio and two as United States senator. They had been here only four years when the state was created.

New York Day By Day

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7—In ripe serenity, Philadelphia engenders a feeling of depth, expansion, poise. No one would hesitate to say I am a Philadelphian. [illegible] in there was a jingle of thoughts for Franklin, Kruppelle, Poe's tragic days, Liberty Bell and Walt Whitman.

There is charm in the city's contrasts. No American park is so beautiful as Fairmont. Few streets so cosmopolitan as Eighth. A second hand shop becomes Mike's Almost New Store. A hospital facade engraved Think of the beautiful doings of thy soul [illegible] They abide forever.

Outwardly it is as ripe and puritanical as the crowning of the white cap. Or the statue of William Penn. Yet there is caprice. Any [illegible] journalist knows there are assignments as exciting here as in Chicago or New York. Inside the Hotel Vendig's beamed ceiling remained in the downtown silhouette. I tried to find Ex. Rohn, Ned Deletombe and, the [illegible] on Brandywine street where Edgar Allen Poe labored unsuccessfully to nurse his stricken Virginia to health. But the addresses of all escaped me. Poe's room is where he reputedly wrote "The Raven" and also many short stories including "The Gold Bug." But it was late and a waitress, asked, scratched his head, and replied "I don't know. I've only lived here a few years."

He was of course a foreigner. For was it not Christopher Morley who wrote: "Every man is a foreigner in Philadelphia until he has lived there three generations?"

Leaving Philadelphia over the magnificent Delaware Bridge toward Camden I turned suddenly curmudgeon and asked John, the chauffeur, in the middle of the structure to turn back. They collect toll only at the Camden end and I wanted to see if it were possible to ride the length of the bridge free. We returned about 50 yards when a cloud of motorcycles surrounded us. What's the big idea? Getting funny eh? In piping tweet I explained it was a bit of fooling, you know commissioner, a gag. Well, it would cost me a $50 fine and a night in the jug. And having scared me silly, they waved me on to pay the customary 25 cents. And had a good laugh for themselves, the nuts!

O, yes, before departure we passed the Philadelphia mint. I signaled the driver to stop and back up to it. Then I got out, stood reverently, uncovered. After a long stretch of [illegible]-four weeks and two days to be precise I felt very grateful that somewhere in the disordered world there was such a thing left as let's see, what did they used to call that stuff? Don't tell me, I know money!

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. It is becoming more and more obvious in Washington that President Roosevelt is going to have to appoint a grand field marshal for his emergency recovery army very shortly.

The Allies flounder around the World war under separate commands until the war heads finally had sense enough to accept supreme leadership at the hands of Marshal Foch. It was only then that the tide began to turn against von Hindenburg.

Every day is producing increasing pressure from the many for a coordination of NRA public works, agricultural adjustment and the other setups under a man whose word will be law right down the line.

Mr. Roosevelt himself has been attempting this correlation but the Presidency lays on him too many other exactions. Even in normal times his job is known as a man-killer. It will take all of any one man's time to handle the emergency coordination alone, just as it takes all for a President's time to handle normal functions of government.

Speculation is keen as to the man to be picked. He will have to possess the dynamic personality of a General Johnson or an Al Smith, because the job will require plenty of club-wielding and down-shouting.

His friends believe Bernard M. Baruch would take the assignment gladly. He did a similar job in 1917-18 running the war industries board and was able to escape criticism. Still those same friends will tell you he has too many enemies in the business world to be acceptable this time.

Challenge

The calendar is bringing on the crisis that will compel selection of a single general to keep all of the initials in step. (NRA, AAA, AGRA, PW, FERA, etc.)

Football weather is not conducive to sleeping in the parks and the ice-hockey temperatures which will prevail shortly thereafter make the practice really unpleasant.

President Roosevelt knows that the coming of this winter will be his supreme challenge. He has met every other major issue forcefully. Take it on the strength of his record and the word of his aides, he'll be there when the shooting starts.

Dribbles

Application of the direct payroll pump still remains the answer to many of the present difficulties according to the most earnest White House advisers.

Public works, under direction of Secretary Ickes, continues to make lump-sum allotments but men are returning to work only in comparative dribbles.

Jesse Jones, heading Reconstruction Finance corporation, has been begging bankers to borrow government money and re-lend it for payroll purposes at a 2 per cent premium with scant success. The bankers say their walls are already bulging with money they'd loan anywhere they had an assurance of getting it back.

This leaves the problem up to the public works administration, argue administration well-wishers.

If RFC can't get money out to code-signers via the Robin Hood's barn route to tide them over payroll readjustments, they say public works simply will have to adopt a new policy and apply the $3,300,000,000 only in places where it is certain to go into pay envelopes immediately.

Water.

Another school of thought goes even further and suggests [illegible] of these new workers [illegible] press currency [illegible] the ability of the gov[illegible] pay.

This would be [illegible] and the admin[illegible] ing on such a [illegible] increasing [illegible] brows. Those adv[illegible] argue in return [illegible] application [illegible] by big [illegible] of stock for [illegible]

Obliging

Most of the New York banks are so eager to pacify the government that there was serious discussion of a gesture which would have actually cost the banks money.

The plan involved accepting the RFC preferred stock offer and paying 4 per cent for the funds thus acquired. This would have set the example to the rest of the country that Mr. Jones talked so much about. Only instead of making loans to industry with the money—on terms that the banks consider risky—the idea was to re-invest it in government securities with an average yield of 3 per cent.

'A one per cent would be worth taking if it would only get the government off our necks.'

Credit

Many banks are applying a credit criterion which has important implications for the future. Loan applications have been turned down—even though the borrower's rating was perfectly good in itself—on the ground that the particular industrial field represented by the borrower was over-crowded. If this principle is extended and adhered to it would prevent the excessive industrial production which helped bring about the depression.

Treasury and federal reserve authorities are known to be interested in this principle. It would not be surprising to see the government give it statistical support as recovery broadens.

Gold

Secretary Woodin's friends say he is besieged with pleas for a free gold market in New York. The plan is for the treasury to buy gold on a rising price scale which would lift the price level proportionately. Advocates claim this would give absolute control over the dollar as a monetary unit.

Gold shipments are still arriving weekly in London from the U. S. The Berengaria recently deposited $7,000,000 worth. The consignments were in 4,000 ounce bars worth $125,000 each.

Scalps

The inflation crowd here is pretty peeved at the way their pet prosperity prescription has been pigeonholed. They have given up hope of forcing immediate action but they will be out for scalps by way of revenge when the time is ripe.

Some of the scalps they crave are in the treasury department. They have a feeling that that's where the dirty work at the crossroads occurred. Their tomahawks will be their recruits in congress who are being primed to lash out at "servants of the international bankers."

They will also take pot shots at the federal reserve. It is entirely possible that a bill may be introduced at the next session to deprive the federal reserve of its note issue privilege and transfer all authority over the currency to the government itself. If this happens resentment of New York inflationists against the federal reserve will be the cause.

Dollar

Local insiders say that we are drifting toward a commodity dollar in terms of a flexible gold content (the Irving Fisher dollar) more rapidly than most people realize. They add that assurance of Britain's cooperation is about all that is needed before it becomes a reality. That may not be so easy to get.

Falling Out

New York gets a kick out of the disagreement between William Randolph Hearst and Paul Block on inflation. Hearst wants it, Block doesn't. Each has expressed himself publicly. It's like an open wrangle between King George and the Prince of Wales, although neither mentions the other.

BY JAMES M'MULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC doesn't discourage easily. The local banks kicked his credit expansion plans all around the block the first time he tried to get them to sell preferred stock. Whereupon he turned around and came back for more.

But there was a noticeable difference in his manner of approach. The first time he merely offered polite suggestions. This time he talked turkey.

He implied strongly that the government was getting tired of waiting for the banks to do their stuff. So what? So the government might move into the banking business itself in a large way unless it got better cooperation from those who are supposed to extend credit.

The impression in local banking circles is that he had his instructions from higher up and there is no disposition to regard his remarks as a bluff.

Official comment that the government doesn't want to control the banks is accepted as true for the present but only for the present. Plans to expedite co-operation have received new impetus. The banks know they are on the spot. They haven't changed their views about the type of loans to be made with depositors' money but they are really keen to find another way out.

The most likely answer is a corporation formed with capital subscribed by the banks as forecast recently in this column which would borrow from the RFC and relend to NRA members who can not get credit through normal banking channels. An announcement to this effect can be expected shortly.

TODAY

Arthur Brisbane's News Review : : :

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Mr. Farley, who ran President Roosevelt's campaign and is now postmaster general, is not supporting Mr. La Guardia for mayor of New York. So Mr. La Guardia, throwing secrecy to the winds, tells the country that Mr. Farley is the 'great, big, bad wolf' of politics, planning to make himself governor at the next election and President of the United States in 194[illegible]. Very much stranger things have happened.

Mr. Farley doesn't drink, doesn't smoke, doesn't even talk, except when he must, officially. Such men are scarce and often successful.

Imitation Air War

New York City got an idea of the interesting "next war" that has been arranged for a squad of [illegible] bombing planes, their bombs [illegible] carrying "flares" of 50,000 candle power, to fly over New York [illegible] the flares and invite people [illegible] a little thinking.

A squadron of 18 swift pursuit planes were to accompany the [illegible] bombers, showing how in real war they would attack and endeavor to fight off the enemy bombers.

For today and Sunday a great national air pageant is planned at Roosevelt Field, and it ought to educate the American public.

The royal air force in experiments above London "proved" that a great city cannot possibly be protected against sudden attack from the air.

But a country as rich as this one could, with proper preparation, make such an attack inadvisable, even by warlike maniacs.

Convince the other nations that you possess and are ready to use modern machinery that could destroy their principal cities and wipe out their population and you will not be disturbed.

Chicago, busy with the great A Century of Progress Exposition, delighted with an attendance surpassing all past events, is also busy selling goods. On Monday, Oct. 9, one hundredth anniversary of the opening of State street, Chicago's big retail business street, the city will begin a drive for the "biggest merchandising week" on record. The first day will be "Chicago Day;" Oct. 12 will be "Christopher Columbus day," another "Marquette day," etc.

Other cities might borrow the idea.

• • •

Insure, Then Kill

Amid all the killings, bombings, machine and sawed-off shotgun executions in our crime wave, nothing is more interesting than the "insurance racket." The racketeers select a victim, usually some poor drunkard, insure his life under a false name for their benefit and give him enough bad alcohol to kill him.

In New York a judge listens now to the case of racketeering gentlemen whose chosen victim, insured for $1,800, drank all they offered him, but would not die.

He did die, however, when forced by racketeers to inhale gas from an automobile exhaust. That is the story of the police.

They also tell of a young woman, addicted to drink, made unconscious with alcohol, stripped naked, taken out of doors where cold water was poured over her. When she died of pneumonia, the insurance was collected.

What other "good" ideas will be developed when repeal of prohibition comes to interfere with bootleg profits?

• • •

Tampering? It's Done

Mr. G. C. MacGuire, member of the "committee for a sound dollar and a sound currency," says in a telegram from Chicago: "American Legion by unanimous vote went on record for a sound dollar and no inflation. Resolution was against tampering with our currency in any way." The telegram adds: "The mandate of this convention against inflation must be backed up by the sound people of America. We urge you to warn President Roosevelt and support him in keeping at bay those wild inflationist gamblers and those people who would destroy our dollar."

The resolution "against tampering with our currency in any way" comes a trifle late. When you take a dollar that has been perched on the gold basis for two generations, suddenly kick it off that gold basis and knock its value from 100 cents to 64 cents in 2 years, you certainly do consider that "tampering."

In Peace and War

'Young' Stribling, well known prize fighter, is dead. An automobile collision cut off his foot as he was riding a motorcycle. Stribling had fought 300 prize fights. He excelled at various sports. He was a good air pilot, speedboat racer, golf and basketball player, but real money is in prize fighting. Also our refined civilization, as per usage, fought to get some of the real money.

Gene Tunney, who retired as heavyweight champion of the world, was paid $1 a day by his grateful country when he fought a war crime, risking his life. He was paid more than a million dollars for fighting in a prize ring. Not so safely, so far as life is concerned, $365 for 365 days in your country's service, $1,000,000 for thirty minutes in a prize ring.

More Required

In New York yesterday was published "the biggest book in the world," with one million signatures, demanding peace throughout the world forever.

This "peace book" embodies a pious thought, but it will take more than 1,000 signatures to establish permanent peace. What you write into the brains and intelligence of the succeeding generations of men, not what you write into a peace book, will end war.

The Word of God.

A SURE DWELLING PLACE: Trust in the Lord and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed.—Psalm 37 3.

175 at Reception for New Pastor, Wife at Church

ONE hundred and seventy-five members of the Marion M. E. union welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Henry Maag at a reception given last evening at the Prospect Street M. E. church. The reception was given by the Prospect Street, Zion and Bethlehem churches, with the women of the Ladies Aid societies of the three churches in charge of the arrangements.

In the receiving line with Rev. and Mrs. Maag were Mrs. Frank Mayer, Mrs. Clarence Gompf, and Mr. and Mrs. John Reidenbaugh. A surprise of the evening was the appearance of Rev. and Mrs. Carl Pioch of Indianapolis, who are visiting in Marion. Rev. Pioch was pastor of the Prospect Street church in 1894.

Large baskets of dahlias and chrysanthemums were used in the decorations.

A prayer by Mrs. Caroline Shambaugh opened a program. Miss Frieda Wanner extended a welcome to the new pastor and his wife, after which the Sunshine quartet, Mrs. Leroy Diehl, Mrs. John Kerr, Mrs. William Wanner and Mrs. Otto Long, with Mrs. Glen Romine at the piano, sang a selection. A piano solo by Mrs. Romine and a reading by Mrs. Adam Goyer of the Bethlehem grange preceded a vocal and accordion duet by Mrs. John Reidel and Mrs. Carlton Schmidt.

Rev. and Mrs. Maag responded with a few remarks. While refreshments were being served the quartet and others who had contributed music to the program, furnished songs and instrumental selections.

Just Things

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

Reunion

WE learned a lot of things at The Star's cooking school and some of them had nothing to do with the shiny new kitchenware or the luscious recipes prepared by Mrs. Campbell. We learned that there are women in Marion who have attended every one of the nine annual schools and the consensus opinion that that's no mean boast. Like every other group that meets once a year, we find ourselves looking about for familiar faces and believe it or not Ripley's they are there. Why not organize a "Veterans" club wear badges and hold a sort of a reunion every year? And who knows we might get a whole front section reserved which after all would be such a big break.

Ancestors

LOOKING up ancestors is pleasant enough sport for adults, provided the company doesn't get too personal and takes one's genealogical research in the right spirit. One little lad of a few summers went away back to the beginning of the world when Adam and Eve were placed on the earth and seemed to be loved to learn that she was correct in her statement that they were the first. The next question put to her mother was: did they have any children? Only too gladly did the temporary Sunday school teacher relate that Cain and Abel were next in line but the next question put her out on a limb. "Well, but mother, they didn't have any grandma and grandpa did they?"

Convention

IF your particular report didn't get in the news columns this week just the way it was intended there's a reason. The sob sisters are holding a convention. And like the bus driver, who on his day off climbed up on the seat beside another bus driver and rode with him all day, every female of the press in Ohio that can beg, cheat or browbeat two, one and a half or even a half day off is hieing herself Akronward this week-end. And what a convention! no deadline to beat, no need to chew up half a leadpencil waiting to see the speaker, not a note to take down, and a great big chance to nib in when the spirit moves. Of course, there will be heaps of shop talk, no little amount of discussions and a generous bit of hospitality on the part of the Akron gals.

Personal Mention

H. H. Blair and son N. O. Blair of East Church street, Ruel Sutherland and Wilbur Click of Forest street, and William McClain and John Shidler of East George street, all employes of the Susquehanna silk mills, left early this morning to spend the week-end at the World's fair in Chicago.

Esther, Cecil and Virginia Rutherford and Ruth Myers of Cherry street, left last night to spend until Monday at the World's fair in Chicago.

Miss Twila Gilbert of the Beaver-Foster road, is spending the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Lindsey of Cleveland.

Marion Will Send P.-T.A. Members To Cincinnati Meeting

MARION will send a large representation to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Cincinnati.

Mrs. John M. Quigley of Olney avenue, president of the Parent-Teachers association council, will head the Marion delegation.

The Netherland Plaza will be convention headquarters. The three-day program will be built around the theme, "The School of Tomorrow—Our Responsibility."

Following the opening of the convention Wednesday morning, the formal opening will be made in the afternoon, with an address by Dr. Edward D. Roberts, superintendent of the Cincinnati schools.

Dr. Louis A. Pechstein of the University of Cincinnati will preside as master of ceremonies for the banquet Wednesday evening. Dr. H. O. Sommer, state director of education is on the program for remarks. Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, will deliver the address.

The Thursday morning session will be given over to conferences, followed by a rehearsal of the statewide Mother Singers chorus. The election of officers will be a part of this session. Miss Grace Frysinger, senior economist, extension service, United States department of agriculture, and Dr. Lee Driver, director of rural service, state department of public instruction, Pennsylvania, will deliver addresses.

Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, will speak in the afternoon. A president's dinner will be served at 5:30 followed by a concert which will include numbers by the Mother Singers chorus and an address by Rabbi James G. Heller of the Isaac M. Wise temple.

The convention will close Friday. A report of the election, installation of officers and presenting of awards will be made in the morning. The board of managers will hold a post convention dinner Friday evening, and in the afternoon a memorial service will be held at the Annie Laws memorial auditorium of the teachers' college, University of Cincinnati, followed by a reception and tea in the drawing room of the memorial.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN.

At The Library.

...NESTA looked up at him—a side-...ways glance, anger in it, and ...something else.

...He said, "How much money have ...I got?"

..."You know what was in your ...pocket-book, you?"

He said "No." And then, "But I ...can easily find out."

"What do you mean?"

..."I'm ringing up the hospital."

A ...ring rage swept over ...Nesta. If she had had anything ...to strike him with, she would have ...struck with all her might. She had ...nothing. She stiffened against the ...face and it went by.

...It would be quite easy to find ...out," he said; and then, "Do you ...want me to ring up in the morn...ing?" He laughed a little. "I don't ...mind if I do. How much was it? ...Fifty pounds?" He was watching ...her eyes. "Forty? Thirty? Twenty?" ...A few lines showed in her face. ..."Oh, if you must know."

..."To take me abroad."

...He laughed harshly.

..."You were going to Glasgow — ...as much as you told me. ...Very easy to splash about as ...I knew you, but you never ...where it came from. If ...I know, you gave me 10 ...when you went away, and ...I send me some more. ...Fifty pounds was what was in ...the pocket-book. That's straight, ...isn't it? Seeing what I've got ...hanging up the hospital if ...

...But she was speaking the ...truth.

..."Give me the pocket-book." ...She stated, made a step to...ward the door, and turned again. ..."What do you want it for?"

..."I'm going to bed." ...She passed the threshold, she ...saw that he was following ...her, swung round angrily. ..."What do you want?" ...He said, "The pocket-book." ...She cried, "Then come and take it. You'd ...better get over—you haven't got ...much longer on ..." ...But she was going to ...say more, but she governed her... ...self. For a moment she spoke. ..."You're a lot of yourself— ...I suppose I go to the po... ...I mean, I do." ...She went with a jerk and went ...on, stamped and up the stairs. ...She did not go into her room, and ...only after he heard her come ...down the foot of the stairs to ...the door slammed on the pas... ...sage as she came out, and ...from him she stood still ...for a long way down. ..."In case!" she said, and ...laughed. ...

...TON has quite a good ...library. At a quarter ...to nine the morning Jim sat ...down at a table and turned ...over the pages of a fat pile of ...newspapers. He had asked for the file of The Daily Surprise, because it could be trusted to leave nothing out. Every available detail of the assault on Mr. Van Berg and the theft of the Van Berg emeralds would certainly be found in its columns.

Jim turned the pages. He wasn't quite sure when it had happened. Nesta had been rather vague, perhaps purposely...Ah! Here was a piece about the Alice Arden. He had better read it. But it didn't get him anywhere; there was nothing he hadn't gathered from Nesta. He must go back a bit.... He came on a headline:

VAN BERG NEAR DEATH

He frowned, hesitated, and went on turning the leaves backwards. Better begin at the beginning.

He found it at last, and read, his face hard and expressionless.

The village of Packham, 10 miles from Ledlington, has been the scene of a most amazing crime.

Elmer K. Van Berg, connoisseur of precious stones, was discovered shortly after midnight in the library at Packham hall, unconscious. He had been shot at close range, and it is doubtful whether he will recover.

The room was in perfect order, but the safe in which Mr. Van Berg kept his valuables was unlocked and a unique chain of emeralds, said to have belonged to the Emperor Atahualpha, last of the Inca chiefs, was missing. These emeralds, which had been recently inherited by Mr. Van Berg, are eight in number, perfectly matched, flawless, and of immense value.

Mrs. Van Berg has furnished the police a detailed description of the missing jewels.

Jim ran his eye rapidly down the column. An interview with the housekeeper at Packham hall. Miss Caroline Bussell. Bricks without straw. Miss Bussell had retired early, and had not known that anything out of the usual was happening until Mrs. Van Berg ran into her room between 1 and 2 in the morning and said something dreadful had happened. She then woke the other servants, and when she got downstairs, Mrs. Van Berg had telephoned to the doctor and was ringing up the police.

• • •

HE turned to the next day's issue:

WILL MR. VAN BERG RECOVER CONSCIOUSNESS?

This is an all important question, since it is probable that he alone saw his assailant, though it appears that Mrs. Van Berg narrowly missed doing so.

"Elmer always sat up late," Mrs. Van Berg said today. "I would go upstairs, and sometimes I would hear him come up, and sometimes I wouldn't hear a thing. Last night I came up as usual at about 11 o'clock, but I couldn't sleep. At 12 I went downstairs to get a book. As I passed the library door, I could hear voices. Elmer was talking to someone."

"You didn't go in, Mrs. Van Berg?" asked the examiner.

Mrs. Van Berg shook her head. She is a platinum blonde with grey eyes and the slimmest of modern figures.

"No, I wish I had! It might have saved my husband's life."

"Were the voices raised? Did it sound as if there was a quarrel?"

Mrs. Van Berg shook her head again.

"Oh no—I wasn't listening of ...course. I just got my book and went upstairs again."

And then?"

"I don't know—I guess I was downstairs at once I thought I heard a shot."

"Was that long after you came upstairs?"

Mrs. Van Berg hesitated again.

"I don't know. It seemed to ...me so."

"And then?"

"I ran downstairs, and as soon as I opened the library door I saw Elmer lying there."

Mrs. Van Berg was overcome.

"Oh, it was dreadful!" she said when she could speak again. "I was afraid to touch him. I ran up and called Miss Bussell, and telephoned to the doctor and the police."

"And when did you miss the emeralds?"

"I wasn't thinking about the emeralds. I was thinking about poor Elmer."

"But you must have missed them some time."

"Yes, when the police came and began to ask questions."

"Was there anything missing besides the emeralds?"

"There was nothing else there ...of value. My other ...jewels are in the safe in my room. I was wearing the emeralds that ...night. My husband had got ...them out of the safe when I ...was going to wear them, because ...I'm not familiar with his habits."

"Does ...do?"

That was all that really signified, though there was a lot about the emeralds and the Incas, and the Mr. Van Berg uncle who had started the famous gem collection.

Jim sat staring at the page. Elmer Van Berg had sat talking in his library with the man who had robbed him. He had the odd feeling that he knew Elmer Van Berg, and that what he knew of him made it difficult to believe that he would have engaged in talk at that hour with any chance-come stranger.

And if he knew him who had talked to him in that library at midnight, then there was no question of its being a stranger. And he did know Elmer Van Berg. He knew the way the straight iron-grey thatch of hair stood up above his forehead, the way the shrewd, pleasant eyes looked out under the iron-grey brows.

He had only to shut his eyes to see these things, and the hand and the scar, and the emerald chain rangling from it under the light.

All of a sudden his temples were wet. It was true! He had sat and talked to a man as a friend and shot him down?

It was a lie.

He wiped his forehead. If it was a lie, why could he see that hand with the scar, and the emeralds hanging from it?

With a dogged determination he went on reading.

To Be Continued.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

The chatter of Avis Arlen upon her return from the moonlight drive with Major Grantland, leads the others to wonder if the major has succumbed to the lure of youth.

AS MRS. ARLEN rushed toward the motor car which had just come into the farmyard, with the cry "My baby's safely back again!" Lillian Underwood moved swiftly to my side, and I felt her reassuring hand firmly clasping my arm.

"Pipe the melodrama!" she murmured from the side of her mouth. Then in the same tone, but I knew with intensified meaning, she added, "Steady, girl! Old Phil is up to something. Don't let him score on you!"

I returned the pressure of her fingers.

"Never fear!" I murmured back. And indeed, whether from the knowledge of her loyalty and understanding, or from resentment at the motive behind Philip Veritzen's action, understanding of which had just flashed upon me, I felt suddenly strong—keyed up for any social emergency.

"Lady Vere de Vere"

Hugh Grantland descended from his car before Fanny Arlen reached it, and turned to give his hand to Avis, who had not stirred from her seat. She was looking out over the group upon the lawn with much the same effect as if she were gazing at them through a lifted lorgnette.

"Lady Vere de Vere looking at the populace," Lillian murmured. And then Fanny Arlen's voice sounded again.

"Oh! My baby!" she exclaimed emotionally. "I was so afraid you were lost!"

Avis did not reply for a second. She was too engaged in accepting Hugh Grantland's proffered hand, in descending from the car with what she evidently considered to be swaying grace, and in lifting her eyes with their cleverly affixed artificial lashes to his in languishing gratitude.

"Such a heavenly drive!" she cooed. "I never can thank you enough for taking me with you in this marvelous car."

"The pleasure is mine," Hugh replied, with a banality which I never had heard from him, and then Avis replied to the plaint which her mother was repeating.

"Lost? Mother!" she said, and there was a tang in her voice which savored strongly of the disrespect with which I guessed she treated her mother when no one else was around. "How could you think that, when I was with Major Grantland? He took such marvelous care of me! And the drive in this heavenly moonlight! Oh! I never shall forget the wonderful picture the breakers made, crashing in on the beach with their foam glittering in the moonlight! Didn't you think it was wonderful, Hugh?"

Moonlight and Breakers.

"Hugh!" I think the rest of the group caught their respective breaths in the same astonishment that swept me at her audacity. Or was it audacity? Had Hugh by any chance succumbed to the lure of her youth and her exaggerated femininity, to the extent of asking her to call him by his given name?

Harry Underwood effectually postponed any answer to that mental query until some later time. With a poorly concealed chuckle he crossed to Hugh and clapped the army officer on the shoulder.

"You're sure to be congratulated, you two," he boomed. "You've spotted a phenomenon of nature that ought to be chronicled by the scientists. It's a still, moonlit night, with hardly a breeze stirring, and yet you saw breakers crashing on the beach. You're sure, Hugh, that you didn't take a flask along?"

"Very sure," Hugh said shortly, as Avis slipped her arm through his possessively.

Hugh Unaffected

"You mustn't rag Major Grantland because of my exaggeration," she said, with a possessive air that I had to admit sat prettily upon her. "I suppose it was ridiculous of me to speak of breakers crashing, but you see I am not very familiar with the ocean, I live inland, you know. And besides, I have the most vivid imagination, and anything beautiful affects the poetic side of my nature so strongly that I suppose I see things in a greatly exaggerated form. It really did seem to me that the waves were great breakers crashing on the beach."

She had managed to inject a distinct note of pathos into her voice, an inflection calculated to make Mr. Underwood deeply ashamed of his ribald comment. And, as she uttered the words, she cast a languishing glance up at Hugh, with the palpable expectation that he would rush to her defense.

But Hugh was impervious to her appeal. With a courteous, formal bow he murmured a hurried excuse, then crossed the lawn to where my father stood.

"May I speak to you, sir, as chief?" he said.

Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc. Starting Seventh Year

NOTABLE RECORD OF SERVICE TO PUBLIC

Boyd's Win Praise for Efficient Conduct of Business During Last Six Years.

Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc., located on the northwest corner of Main and Columbia streets, is inaugurating its seventh year in the mortician business in Marion. The last six years have been six happy years for W. C. Boyd, president and general manager of Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc. The home and Mr. Boyd have made many friends by the fine courteous conscientious way the public is treated in the hour of greatest sorrow.

Boyd's mortuary is a spacious 12-room home, every room of which is given over to some phase of funeral work. On the first floor there are three service rooms, embalming room and beautiful parlor equipped with an organ in which funeral rites may be conducted.

On the second floor are sleeping rooms for members of people from outside Marion who may be attending a funeral conducted by Mr. Boyd. The upstairs also has a room where caskets of different types and prices are on display, and living quarters for two of Mr. Boyd's assistants who are ready at all times for every ambulance or funeral work.

Pride Selves On Embalming

Boyd's take pride in the slogan, "The Home of Natural Sleep Embalming," and justly so. Mr. Boyd and his assistants have done some really fine work in making bodies disfigured by accident look natural and have the appearance of one only enjoying a heavy slumber instead of having passed on.

Have Full Line Of Equipment

At the rear of Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc., is a garage. Here Boyd's keep their ambulance, their funeral coach and a large limousine for use of the bereaved family. Boyd's ambulance is one of the fastest in the city and it is a common occurrence that when an accident happens, Boyd's ambulance is the first to arrive on the scene.

All three cars are the best money can buy and were bought in Marion. Mr. Boyd says: "We believe in patronizing local business concerns because we make our living in Marion and every cent we can keep in Marion is of benefit to the whole community."

Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc., is open to the public at all times. Anyone wishing to be shown through a modern mortician establishment is welcome. Mr. Boyd says: "My assistants as well as myself are always glad to meet old friends and have the opportunity of making new ones."

Boyd's prices are exceptionally low for the unexcelled service rendered. The last rites may be either costly or very inexpensive, depending of course on the casket selected, etc.

One might say that Boyd's Funeral Home, Inc., was built on superior service at very reasonable prices. Mr. Boyd is ready at all times to consult with anyone in need of ambulance or mortician service. For mortician or ambulance service phone 2353.

STUDY PROBABLE BUSINESS TREND

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Standard Statistics says "with a normal upward impulse in business and industry due to make itself felt within a few weeks some anxiety is naturally felt as to whether the full upswing normally to be expected will materialize. The rise from March to July in industrial production ran far in excess of normal, being powerfully stimulated by inflationary influences. These latter are still operative, but nominally at least they exist now in the form of credit expansion rather than the far more powerful currency inflation. Pending more conclusive evidence to the contrary it is reasonable to assume that the normal upswing in autumn business, plus the outside stimulus to be provided by government loans and other credit agencies, plus enlarged incomes on the farms, should produce satisfactory results from the volume standpoint.

ARMY INAUGURATES PAINTING PROGRAM

Extensive Renovation Schedule Gets Under Way in 17 States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—Uncle Sam's army is taking the lead in hiring men and stimulating national recovery by beginning construction and reconditioning work this week in 35 army posts throughout the country.

Financed by a $54,709,358 appropriation from the public works fund, building, repairing and repainting projects will get under way immediately in nearly a score of states, giving work to thousands of men.

Of the $54,709,358 allotted to this work, more than $5,990,000 is for reconditioning work alone, according to the public works administration. This means that quarters of officers and men in these army posts will receive a rejuvenating paint treatment and be given long needed attention in other respects. In addition, new buildings will go up in army concentration points all over the country.

In appropriating this huge amount for reconditioning work, executives of the public works program recognize the necessity for preserving valuable real estate holdings, officials of the American paint, varnish and lacquer industries point out. In this vast program, the application of paint to exposed surfaces will play an important part, safeguarding the government's structures against weather ravages for years to come.

WEEK'S CLEARINGS IN BANKS HIGHER

CHICAGO, Oct 7—Bank clearings for all leading cities last week totaled $4,792,901,000, a decrease of 1.1 per cent from the aggregate for the same period last year, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reports. They were, however, $534,998,000 ahead of the previous week.

At New York City the clearings were off 0.4 per cent from last year, while the aggregate for other centers was 2.6 per cent lower.

Gain Again Registered in Payrolls

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Five consecutive months of improvement in factory payrolls advanced the index in August to 51.9 as compared with 45.5 in July, 33.1 in March, the low for the depression, and 36.3 in August, 1932. The gain in payrolls from July to August amounted to 11.6 per cent. This was substantially greater than the 10-year average upturn of 1.5 per cent in these two months. August was the third month in which the payroll total was above the corresponding month a year ago. In June, payrolls were 9.7 per cent above the 1932 level. July saw a gain of 23.5 per cent while August topped last year's figure by 42.9 per cent.

Of the total of 74 major industries in the following list, 70 showed increases in payrolls in August over the previous month while four reported decreases. Sixty-six of the industries had payroll totals above a year ago with increases ranging from 151.0 per cent in the iron and steel mills to 5.5 per cent in the soap industry. Six additional industries reported their payroll totals over 100 per cent larger than a year ago—carpet and rug manufacturers, beverage plants, cotton goods, typewriter manufacturing, textile machinery and rayon and allied products. Of the thirteen industries with payrolls below a year ago, only three had decreases greater than 10 per cent. The payroll index in the marble and granite industry was 26.1 per cent below 1932, locomotive plants 19.8 per cent and electric railroad repair shops 10.1 per cent.

GREASE REMOVER

To clean the wheels and chassis of an automobile prior to painting, saturate the greasy parts with crude oil and turpentine or with kerosene, and allow these softeners to work for some hours. Then, with a scraper, wire brush and cotton waste, rub off the grease and finish by washing the surface well with turpentine.

13TH IN OIL LIST.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Ohio ranks 13th in the value of crude petroleum at wells, according to the annual petroleum statement of the bureau of mines. The value of the petroleum in Ohio last year was $5,430,000 and the average per barrel $1.17. Of this, $1,250,000 was credited to the central and eastern fields and $1,500,000 to the northwestern portion of the state.

EQUALIZATION FUND URGED FOR DOLLAR

Institute Favors Plan To Guard U. S. Money Against Raids Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Pointing out that the present weakness of the dollar is having an adverse effect upon business conditions, the Alexander Hamilton Institute in its current bulletin, suggests the establishment of an equalization fund, such as was done by Great Britain, to protect the dollar from raids abroad. Says the Institute:

"At the present time, the dollar is unprotected in the world's market. Any increased demand for foreign exchange in the United States or any increased supply of dollars abroad immediately leads to a depreciation of the dollar. Similarly, any unexpected demand for dollars abroad or any unexpected supply of foreign exchange in the United States leads to a rapid appreciation of the dollar. These wild fluctuations have an adverse effect on business conditions both here and abroad.

"It is not unlikely that the government of the United States, in order to do away with unnecessary fluctuations of the dollar, will establish an equalization fund with the view of controlling the movement of the dollar. Such a step would seem advisable in that it would enable the government to lay the foundation for a de facto stabilization which must precede any legal stabilization. If the government, on the other hand, does not adopt such measures, continuous fluctuation of the dollar is to be expected until the government declares at what point the dollar will ultimately be stabilized.

"The dollar is intrinsically strong and undervalued in the world's markets. The United States has a favorable balance of trade and in addition, the usual increased demand for American goods in the fall makes a further demand for dollars in the near future certain.

Of Scotch invention is a framework to be attached to a farm tractor to pick up an entire stack of hay and move it.

RAILWAY INCOME REGISTERS GAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The first 70 railroads to report August earnings had net operating income aggregating $55,902,000, compared with $27,956,000 in the like 1932 period an increase of 99.9 per cent, and with $51,622,000 in August, 1931, an increase of 8.2 per cent. In July this year their net operating income amounted to $59,720,000, an increase of 403.7 per cent over the $11,856,000 reported in the comparable 1932 month.

BRUSHES IMPORTANT

Good painting, like any other job, depends upon good material, properly used. A general working knowledge of brushes and their care is essential, since worn out or poor grade brushes are often the finished paint job.

Judge Vaught gave R. G. Shannon 60 days in which to adjust his affairs before going to prison.

Mr. and Mrs. Urschel were in the courtroom to hear the sentences. Kathryn Kelly's face had a stare of despair as she heard her mother, Mrs. Shannon, sentenced to prison for "the term of her natural life."

The seven persons sentenced were convicted by a jury a week ago after a trial lasting two weeks. All received their sentences calmly.

The sentence came exactly 75 days after the kidnaping.

BOWLING CAMPAIGN OPENS AS ELECTRIC LOOP ASSAULTS PINS

C., D. & M. Company Launches Season on New Recreation Alleys.

With the members of the C. D. & M. Electric company booming the bombarding, the 1933 Marion bowling season was officially launched last night at the new Recreation bowling alleys on South Prospect street. The other city leagues will swing into action next week. The alleys will be available for open bowling each day. Through the courtesy of Chick Rodenfels, manager of the alleys, the receipts for Sunday will be turned over to the Harding High school Booster Club.

Harold Fetter stole the individual honors for three games last night when he hammered the maples for a three game total of 592. Rolling for the Toasters, Fetter turned in games of 179, 144 and 169. His high total helped his team to sweep all three games with the Washers. The Toasters turned in the highest single team game with 652 in the third game. They also had the three-game high with a total of 1,927 pins.

The highest single game individual score was turned in by Graham, rolling for the Radios. He hammered the pins for a total of 193 in his third start. The Washers, Sweepers and Percolators were the only three teams which failed to win a game, losing three in a row. The Toasters, Waffle Irons and Ranges made a clean sweep of three games.

Ryan Is Hero as Giants Win 11-Inning Game, 2-1

Shortstop Drives in Winning Run in Final Frame; Hubbell Wins Second Series Start.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Those [illegible] New York Giants' [illegible] today for the baseball championship of the world [illegible] a single step away after one [illegible] that history had swung them [illegible] game up on the dazed Washington [illegible]

[illegible] of a typewriter are [illegible] ready and quite for the task of [illegible] the picture of the exhausting [illegible] season young battle yesterday [illegible] through the Clark Griffith stadium, [illegible] Carl Hubbell and blonde John [illegible] Ryan men among baseball's heroes [illegible] packed thrill on thrill until the [illegible] nerves of 27,000 sang like fiddle [illegible] Giants carried Monte Weaver to [illegible] heights and then dropped him, [illegible] and wound up with police smuggling an umpire safely from the park after he had put a player out of the game, that in itself almost unprecedented in series history.

BILL TERRY

Can Win Today

Buried in the tumult was the series standing itself, all but over now as the rampaging New Yorkers, with a 3 to 1 lead in games, sought to close out the inter-league championship struggle today behind the pitching of Young Hal Schumacher, winner of the second game in New York.

"General" Alvin Crowder, Washington's veteran right hander who was snowed under the six-run barrage that gave the 22-year-old Schumacher his first victory, was Joe Cronin's probable pitching choice.

[illegible] again [illegible] perfect [illegible] and [illegible] pounding [illegible]

For [illegible] head [illegible] was no [illegible] the manner [illegible] could be [illegible] or for [illegible] son Commissioner [illegible] had umpire [illegible] three matters [illegible] explaining [illegible] the exposition. [illegible] Washington [illegible] fielder, and [illegible] bullet scores [illegible] the sixth inning. [illegible] all started out as a pitchers' battle with Hubbell, pitted after only two days of rest against 26-year-old Monte Weaver, who suffered the most bitter defeat of his hurling career.

For five innings it went that way, and the only edge in [illegible] favor was the tremendous [illegible] Bill Terry to give him a [illegible] as Weaver held the sniping.

Senators Battle Hard

The Senators fought doggedly along with Weaver, getting to where in the matter of runs, by landing cleanly on the twirling serves of the lank lefthander.

It was obvious that sooner or later something was going to happen and the tension rose steadily. In the sixth came the first break and the outburst that for 15 minutes turned the field into an arm waving arena where umpires and ball players mixed in one tangle after another. Manush wound up, chased from the field of play, while the enraged faithful screamed and raved and swore that Moran, who thumbed the outfielder away, would never get off the premises intact. He did, but only through the intervention of police.

Buddy Myer, Senators' second baseman, opened the sixth with a single and "Goose" Goslin sent him along to second with a neat sacrifice. With the tying run in scoring position, Manush smashed a drive between second and first that seemed a certain hit. But little Hughie Critz got his hands on the ball and tossed to Hubbell, covering first, just as Manush crossed the bag. Moran, a National league umpire, stationed at the base, waved him out.

HEINE MANUSH

Enraged, Manush stormed after the arbiter and the entire band of Senators, feeling they had started Hubbell on the way out, were being wronged, tore into action. Soon the various factions were holding each other apart. In the midst of the arm waving, it appeared as though Manush's hands touched Moran's cheek.

Whatever happened, and there were no official statements issued later either by Moran, as he slammed the dressing room door in newspapermen's faces or Commissioner Landis, Manush left reluctantly.

If Manush was safe, and the impression of many was that he had beaten the throw and that Moran made his decision too hastily, poetic justice visited the Giants in the seventh.

Hubbell Has Error

With one out Hubbell fielded Joe Kuhel's bunt and the Washington first baseman was safe on the error. Ossie Bluege permitted him to second and with two out and first base unoccupied Hubbell decided to pitch to Luke Sewell at the [illegible] singled scoring Kuhel with the tieing run.

From then on [illegible] boy who coined the Ghosts [illegible] cry "they can't beat us" drove home the winning tally in the eleventh and Cliff Bolton, a pinch hitter, drove into a double play with the bases full as the Senators staged a last ditch rally. Two outs followed another walk, filling the [illegible] Weaver. Hubbell [illegible] were in [illegible] and tenth innings.

Then came the Giants' [illegible] ning chance. [illegible] out a hit [illegible] that caught Ossie [illegible] Manush scampered [illegible] and up stood [illegible] single to left, [illegible] home with the [illegible]

As if they [illegible] one day, the [illegible] back at Hubbell [illegible] stand. Schulte [illegible] to left and Kuhel [illegible] him to second [illegible] himself when [illegible] on a hunt that [illegible] Bluege sacrificed [illegible] and rather than risk [illegible] again Hubbell [illegible] and filled the [illegible] Bolton, a substitute [illegible] has been a great [illegible] season. MT. GILEAD ELEVEN DEFEATS JOHNSTOWN Point After Touchdown Gives Victory to Morrow Countians, 13-12.

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 7—The purple and white eleven defeated Johnstown here Friday afternoon 13 to 12 in the first home game of the season. Mt. Gilead's offense clicked consistently and both touchdowns were the result of off-tackle plays by Bob Payne, left half. The first came soon after the first kickoff in the opening quarter when he ran 50 yards after Mt. Gilead had first lost and then recovered the ball on fumbles. Payne's placement kick was good for the extra point and what proved to be the margin needed for a victory. The second came in the second period but the kick for the extra point was blocked.

Special to The Star

LA RUE, Oct. 7 — LaRue High school's football team continued its march toward the championship of the Heart of Ohio league yesterday by squeezing out a 7-6 triumph over Richwood, their arch rivals from Union county. A large crowd saw the game, the first of the two annual tussles between the two schools. The game was played at LaRue.

A 35-yard aerial heave from Delbert Greenwood to Bob Aiken early in the second period accounted for LaRue's touchdown. LaRue converted and was out in front 7-0. The touchdown came after LaRue had made a long drive from deep in its own territory down into the Richwood territory.

Richwood Scores

Trailing by seven points, Richwood came back fighting and after a brief exchange of punts and several penalties against LaRue, scored a touchdown across. The try for point was blocked and the failure cost Richwood a tie game. LaRue threatened in the last period to score again, having the ball almost on the Richwood goal line when the gun cracked to end the game.

The second half was a battle between Delbert Greenwood of LaRue and Freddie Allgower of Richwood. These two stellar backs did just about everything, running, passing, kicking offense and backing up the line on defense. Gillespie, LaRue quarterback, also turned in some sparkling work, running back 40 punt 45 yards.

11 First Downs

LaRue collected 14 first downs to 10 for Richwood.

LaRue will play the Ohio State School for the Deaf from Columbus next Friday at LaRue. The game is called for 3:15 and promises to be one of the toughest on the LaRue schedule.

To Defend Title.

Gus Kallio, middleweight champion, will haul out his crown Monday night and give Scotty McNaught, the tough Canadian, a chance to knock it off the royal brow when the two of them lock horns in the feature melee of the regular Monday night grappling show at the Steam Shovel gym. They will meet over the two-hour route with two falls to win.

HARDING PRESIDENTS PLAY SHELBY TODAY

Two Regulars Not in Uniform for First N. C. O. League Tilt.

Jack Cheadle has dished up his Harding High school first and reserve football teams today and invaded Shelby to officially launch the campaign for the North Central Ohio league championship. The reserve game was scheduled to start at 1 p. m. with the varsity conflict at 2:30.

The Harding squad is badly crippled for the league opener, two of the varsity regulars not even being in uniform and several others being in poor condition. Neither Gerald Smart nor Carl Danner, a pair of backfield men, were in uniform. It was doubtful if Mason, Brady or Ingmire would be able to play much of the game because of injuries.

Harding is seeking its third victory of the season, having beaten Mt. Vernon and Delaware in non-league contests.

BUCKEYES' OPENING GAME WITH VIRGINIA TOPS GRIDIRON SLATE

Five Ohio Conference Games On; Wesleyan Winner of Friday Clash.

By The Associated Press

On 11 Ohio gridiron squads four real teams faced each other in point of speed and power today a half dozen teams invaded nearby states, and the day's program was topped off with one game under the electric lights tonight.

Ohio State's opening game with Virginia, a pair of games at Cleveland—Denison at Case and Mt. Union at Western Reserve—and the intersectional battle at Cincinnati tonight between the Universities of South Dakota and Cincinnati were the highlights of the busy program. Besides the Denison-Case encounter five Ohio conference matches were up for decision.

Two Tie Battles

The week-end gridiron schedule was opened with a bang last night in four games two of which ended in the scores. Baldwin-Wallace and John Carroll were even 7 to 7 and another Ohio conference ended in a scoreless tie for Otterbein and Muskingum. Xavier [illegible] Adrian, piling up 32 points while the Michigan squad made [illegible] Ohio Wesleyan finished [illegible] defeat Dayton, 22 to 10.

The lone game in the Buckeye association today is between Wittenberg and Marshall, the babe of the group at Huntington, W. Va.

The Ohio conference [illegible] includes Capital at Marietta, Kenyon at Oberlin, Ashland at Wooster, Akron at Kent State and Heidelberg at Ohio Northern.

Ohio U. found itself with a real task on its hands—hosting the Purdue Boilermakers at Lafayette. The Bobcats led the invasion of Ohio teams against squads in adjoining territory. Hiram traveled to Bethany, W. Va., to play Bethany college, Wilberforce was at Bluefield, W. Va., Findlay encountered Hillsdale at Hillsdale, Mich., and Toledo squared off against the City College of Detroit.

At Oxford Miami was host to Hanover, an Indiana squad. Bluffton was paired with Bowling Green at the latter's field, and John Marshall was matched with Defiance at Defiance.

Both Score Once

With standings in the Ohio conference and the greater Cleveland championship race at stake, the deadlock between Baldwin-Wallace and John Carroll resulted from the matching of one strong attack against another. An aerial drive led to the Yellow Jackets' touchdown.

THUNDERING HERDS OF GRIDMEN START MAJOR DRIVES TODAY

Heavy Conference and Intersectional Slate Billed Throughout Country.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 — The thundering herds of college football [illegible] cramped 200 gridirons today in the first big crush of the season.

For competition football fans looked to Southern California [illegible] Washington State, St. Mary's, California, Santa Clara and Stanford in the far West, Notre Dame and Kansas, Minnesota and Indiana, Nebraska and Texas, Michigan and Michigan State, Wisconsin and Marquette in the Mid West, Tulane and Georgia, Georgia Tech and Kentucky, North Carolina and Vanderbilt in the South; Texas Christian and Arkansas in the Southwest, and Temple and Carnegie Tech and Pitt and West Virginia in the East.

Those loomed as the hardest fought engagements of the day for most other major schools [illegible] started or continued with the "warm-up" campaign designed to put them in shape for more important games later in the season.

The South once more was the leading factor in intersectional warfare, sending Mercer, Richmond, Military into the North to face Navy, Cornell and Army respectively. South Carolina, meanwhile, remained at home to battle Villanova.

The east watched with not a little interest the maiden efforts of Princeton, Yale and Harvard against Amherst, Maine and Bates respectively and the seasonal debuts of such other major scholastics as New York university, Brown, Colgate, Syracuse and Columbia, all of whom faced apparent setups.

In the mid-west Purdue's boilermakers started off against Ohio university, strong strong Buckeye conference aggregation, and Chicago expected to start off Clark Shaughnessy's coaching regime with a victory over Cornell of Iowa.

Rounding out the southern schedule were Southeastern conference contests between Alabama and Mississippi, Florida and Sewanee and Tennessee and Mississippi State; Southern conference games involving Maryland and Virginia Poly and Clemson and North Carolina state, and an intersectional duel between Centenary and Baylor, the latter hailing from the Southwest conference. Rice, another Southwest conference team, opposed Loyola of New Orleans.

The Stars Say
For Sunday, Oct. 8.

Sunday's horoscope is an excellent one for church, state and employment, with lunar incitement for prigress and prosperity in many directions. It is a time for dealing with superiors, elders, those in authority and bespeaking their support for large projects and ambitions. Push for high goals.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a splendid opportunity, with promise of solid support from those in places of power and prestige.

A child born on this day will be excellently equipped for high station in life, through its own dynamic capacity, but by its personal popularity and good qualities.

Notable nativity: John Hay, statesman.

For Monday, Oct. 9.

Monday's astrological forecast is not a very important one, although a change or [illegible] some minor moments [illegible] anticipated. There may be setbacks, impediments and disappointments, with annoying complications through partners or misrepresentation. Family affairs give some quiet solace.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted with a rather humdrum or routine year, although there may be some small changes or a journey.

A child born on this day will be quiet, studious, curious, fond of the novel and change.

Notable nativity: Aimee McPherson, evangelist.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF 2 HORSES AVERTED

LaRue Man Settles Claims. Regains Possession of Property.

A sheriff's sale of two race horses to pay judgment claims against Lewis ... Aller of LaRue was averted yesterday when Aller satisfied the claim, and regained possession of his horses Ned Moore and Lou Chan.

The horses had been held by Sheriff C C Fye since Sept 21 and were to have been sold today to satisfy an $840 claim of the Credit Loan & Discount Co of Marion and a $135 claim of the Gilbert Limerock Asphalt Co of Columbus. Aller is reported to have settled the claim of the Credit Loan & Discount Co and paid the claim of the Columbus concern, as well as approximately $75 to pay for costs in the case and care of the horses while they were in possession of the sheriff.

Aller and his driver, John Harriman of Marion are awaiting hearing in common pleas court Oct 20 on contempt charges filed against them by Sheriff Fye after they allegedly took the horses, on which the sheriff had levied an order of execution, out of the county without consent of authorities. Aller, Harriman and the horses were brought back to Marion from Bellefontaine on Sept. 20.

NEW OHIO COAL CODE TAKES EFFECT TODAY

Pact Framed Under NRA Designed To Better Conditions of Industry.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7—A pact framed under the NRA, assuring increased wages, improved conditions and peaceful arbitration of disputes was in effect today between miners and operators of four Ohio coal fields, and served as a basis for similar agreements covering the rest of the state.

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America and seven officers of the Ohio Coal Control association, representing operators of the eastern Ohio, Cambridge Bergholz and Amsterdam fields, figuratively joined forces in carrying the NRA banner into the mine pits of Ohio in signing the agreement.

The pact not only ratifies all provisions of the code, including those for wage rates, but also provides for the continuous operations of mines employing 15,000 men without interruption, regardless of labor controversies.

ROGERS AND FOSTER IN FILM SUPPORTING PALACE STAGE SHOW

Midgets on the stage and Ginger Rogers and Norman Foster together in a picture sounds like an entertaining program for the Palace over Sunday. The midgets, Singer's famous troupe of 30, will be at the theater two days, and the Rogers-Foster picture, "Rafter Romance," will be shown through Tuesday.

WILL ROGERS

The picture was made from the novel by John Wells. Two young people occupy the same room, the girl at night, the boy in the daytime, and they hate each other thoroughly until they finally meet.

George Sidney, Robert Benchely, one of the country's best wits, Laura Hope Crews and Quinn Williams are in the supporting cast.

Luis Trenker who thrilled audiences with his performance in "The Doomed Battalion," returns in "The Rebel," which will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Marion. The picture marks the return to the screen of Vilma Banky who retired when she married Rod LaRocque. The picture was made abroad, in the picturesque Austrian Tyrol. Victor Varconi, who is featured, and Miss Banky are both natives of Hungary. He played with Trenker in "The Doomed Battalion." Trenker is the only member of the cast who was linguistically fitted to appear in the three versions of this picture—English, French and German.

PITTS-SUMMERVILLE COMEDY AT STATE

Laughs abound in the Slim Summerville-Zasu Pitts comedy, "They Just Had to Get Married," which will return to show at the State Sunday and Monday. Slim and Zasu are left a fortune by their employer, on the condition that they marry. The high spot of the picture comes when they throw a fashionable party, these two people who were at one time servants, and Slim becomes involved in what appears to be an "affair." Roland Young, Verree Teasdale, Fifi D'Orsay and C. Aubrey Smith are important members of the supporting cast. On the same bill will be a western, "End of the Trail," starring Tim McCoy.

SINGER'S TROUPE OF MIDGETS IS BOOKED

Will Show at Palace Theater Sunday and Monday.

Singer's midgets, the most famous troupe of little people in the theatrical world, will entertain Palace theater patrons Sunday and Monday. With them these little folks will be three elephants, several ponies, a singing duck and reindeer. Their owner, Baroness Vicki-Wally Singer who organized the group and trained them for their stage work 16 years ago in Vienna will be with them. The Baroness is not a midget.

One of the star performers of the group is a Chinese magician who can do all of the tricks that his normal-sized competitors use to bewilder the audiences.

Midgets, according to authorities, are always born of normal parents, and children born to midget parents are always normal, so it follows that the dimunitive size is not inherited.

The men and women in the troup range in age from 17 to 48 years. They have their own jazz band of 11 pieces, playing upon specially constructed instruments which are adapted to their little hands and limited lung capacity.
